Beam Strategy Group
Associate
Washington, D.C.

Dear Selection Committee,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Associate position at Beam Strategy Group. Beam's focus on the moments where business, reputation, policy, and culture collide is the kind of work I find most compelling, because those are the moments when a clear message and a well-mapped set of stakeholders can change an outcome. I am also excited by the chance to join a young firm as it builds its systems and standards, and to do real client work alongside senior advisors from day one.

My strongest skills are research and writing for people who need to act quickly. At Holland & Knight, I follow legislative and regulatory developments across many industries and write briefings and memos for attorneys and former Members of Congress. I have learned to scan a crowded news cycle, decide what actually matters to a particular client, and summarize it in a way that is usable within minutes. Before client meetings with elected officials and agencies, I map the relevant decision-makers and prepare talking points and background materials, which has shown me how advocacy, stakeholder engagement, and communications strategy fit together.

I also enjoy the execution side of the work. Interning in Representative DeGette's office, I handled constituent correspondence and saw how a congressional office weighs outside voices, which gives me a practical sense of how messages land with policymakers. At Georgetown's student-run credit union, I create marketing and member-education content and learned to write for a broad, non-expert audience. Co-founding the Georgetown Women in Law Club and the Undergraduate Law Journal taught me to build an organization from scratch, run meetings, track action items, and keep a small team moving toward deadlines. I use AI tools to work faster, always checking the source.

I would be excited to build daily clips, draft talking points, one-pagers, and press materials, support client meetings and events, and grow across Beam's communications, advocacy, and stakeholder engagement capabilities. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how I could contribute to your team.

Sincerely,
Adeline Bean
