Yuzu
Legal and Compliance Operations
New York, NY

Dear Selection Committee,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Operations Associate, Legal and Compliance position at Yuzu. Health plans are governed by a dense web of federal rules, and I admire Yuzu's approach of building compliance into its software from the start rather than treating it as an afterthought. The opportunity to work on appeals, No Surprises Act cases, and regulatory research alongside both lawyers and engineers is exactly the kind of hands-on work where I hope to learn and contribute quickly.

My legal research experience comes from Holland & Knight, where I read statutes, regulations, and agency guidance and turn them into clear memos for attorneys. I have learned to start from the text itself, identify what a rule actually requires, and flag the open questions instead of guessing. Writing client alerts with partners taught me to explain regulatory obligations in plain language for business readers. I also manage recurring deliverables and records for several attorneys, which has made me careful about deadlines, documentation, and getting every detail right the first time.

I care about the people on the other side of these processes. In Representative DeGette's office, I handled constituent casework, which often meant helping someone through a dispute with a federal agency, documenting each step, and following up until the matter was resolved. I also researched health care and public health legislation for legislative staff. At Georgetown's student-run credit union, I follow written procedures, verify identity, and escalate unusual situations, and I have seen how good process design makes compliance easier for staff and customers alike. These experiences have given me a first-principles approach to problems: understand the rule, understand the person, and then design the workflow.

I would be excited to review appeals and No Surprises Act cases, research HIPAA and mental health parity questions, manage recurring filings, and help engineering turn compliance requirements into product features. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how I could contribute to your team.

Sincerely,
Adeline Bean
